DETAILED ACTION

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1- 21, are drawn to a molding die for an optical element, classified in class 65, subclass 305.
- II. Claims 30 – 35, drawn to a master die, classified in class 76 subclass 4
- III. Claims 22 - 29, drawn to an optical element, classified in class 359, subclass 819.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and III are related as apparatus and product made. The inventions in this relationship are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the apparatus as claimed is not an obvious apparatus for making the product and the apparatus can be used for making a different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different apparatus (MPEP j 806.05(g)). In this case the product as claimed can be made by another materially different apparatus. For example, an optical element commensurate with any of the claims 22- 29 could clearly be made by grinding an optical perform.

Inventions II and I are related as apparatus and product made. The inventions in this relationship are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the apparatus as claimed is not an obvious apparatus for making the product and the apparatus can be used for making a different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different apparatus (MPEP § 806.05(g)). In this case that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different apparatus that forms a die by grinding and/or carving without the use of a master die.

Inventions II and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions of a master die and an optical element have different modes of operation, different functions, and/or different effects.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required among groups I-III is not coextensive, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

During a telephone conversation with David W. Hill on October 28, 2002 a provisional election was made without traverse to prosecute the invention of molding glass, claims 1- 21, 30 - 35. However, after the elected invention was transferred to the appropriate examining unit it was deemed that a further restriction was required. Hence, a telephone call was made to David W. Hill on 11/12/03 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
